Cpl. Boneca, known as “T-Bone” to his comrades, lost his life in a fierce battle with the Taliban insurgents with only three weeks left in his deployment. His father portrayed his son as a young soldier who “loved being in the army” and was well aware of the challenge he faced. A friend said, “He believed in what he was fighting for, and he never gave up fighting for a country that he loved to the very end.”

Cpl. Boneca is buried in Thunder Bay ant Mountain View Cemetery.
